This estate has the rare combination of privacy and views, When you enter the front door you immediately view both the living room and beyond, viewing the Koi Pond -- which is the size of a small lake -- and a beautiful old Oak tree still further, over a wooden bridge. Unlike most properties outside the Covenant, it is on sewer!

Hidden Meadows is a quiet, upscale community of about 3,500 people in overwhelmingly custom homes. Hidden Meadows has an Escondido address, but is not in Escondido. Hidden Meadows has Valley Center sewer and water, but it isn't in Valley Center, either.

Hidden Meadows is a "Country Town" as designated by the County Board of Supervisors, but it has neither a Mayor, nor a stoplight. It does have a deli combination deli and grocery store and it has many activities, run by volunteers.

Hidden Meadows is a quiet, cul-de-sac community, virtually unknown to the outside world, but it offers a bucolic life-style available nowhere else.
